

Rochester vs. Connecticut

Sunday, June 15, 1997

TONIGHT'S GAME: The Rochester Rhinos (6-3) look to extend their winning streak to three games as the Connecticut Wolves (4-4/2 shoot-out wins) come to town ... A win this evening and the Rhinos can end the weekend in a tie for first place with the Montreal Impact in the Northeast Division; second place Toronto hosts Worcester and could finish the weekend at 22 points with a three point victory ... Connecticut would pass Worcester and climb out of the basement with a non-shoot-out victory tonight ...

GOAL BARRAGE: Although the Rhinos have been stressing team defense the last few matches, their offensive game has been outstanding ... Led by four goals from All-Star F Doug Miller, Rochester has netted nine in their last two contests and are challenging for the A-League goal lead despite having played the second fewest games in the league ... Seattle and Vancouver top the goals chart with 23 each, but have played 14 and 13 games respectively; the Rhinos check in with 21 goals in just nine matches ...

GROWING PAINS ARE OVER: After getting off to a disappointing 1-7 start last season, Rochester finished the season 13-6 and was a finalist in both the A-League and U.S. Open Cup Championship ... Through the first nine games of the 1997 campaign, the Rhinos are 6-3; put those records together and the 19-9 mark totals a full season of A-League play, one that would have captured the A-League regular season title in 1996 ...

ONE NIL RHINOS: That is a score which is very familiar to the Rhinos and their fans this season, as it has appeared on the scoreboard in eight of the nine matches the team has played ... Rochester has gotten the first goal of the game in nearly every match of the 1997 season and is 5-3 when doing so ... Last season, Rochester managed 12 first goals and posted a 10-2 mark in those games ... Twice the 1-0 score held up, while three other times the initial goal proved to be the game-winner as the Rhinos posted five regulation shutouts ...

SOCCER TWINBILL: Frontier Field will host a soccer doubleheader on Tuesday, July 15, as Galatasaray of the Turkish First Division takes on the Rhinos at 5:00 pm, followed by the A-League All-Star Game at 7:30 pm ... One ticket admits you to a pair of world-class soccer matches ... Tickets are on sale now at the Frontier Field Ticket Office or by calling 423-9464.
